...we are sure that you will find many more features after you start using your BulKey Code Wallet™

HOW TO USE

I. How to set my first own code?

1. The factory code of each wallet is 0000
2. Set 0000
3. With a pointy object, (such as a pen) press the button with an indentation on the corner next to the code. Hold it pressed.
4. While pressed, set your new code*

*make sure that the numbers of the new code are properly aligned

5. After selecting the new code, release the pressure on the button.**

ATTENTION:
**Be careful not to turn any number from the new code, until the button is fully released.

6. To check if your new code is correctly set, push the unlock button to open the wallet.

II. Change your code later.

Isn't it better to always have the option to change your code whenever you want?

Repeat the steps from point I, but instead of 0000, enter your previous code

III. How do I unlock my Bulkey Code Wallet if I have forgotten my code?

YOU CAN'T. Don't be surprised. If you can open a code wallet without knowing the code, then thieves can do it as well. There is no way you can either see what the previous code was (as you can do on some other code-wallets on the market). We think that this is a serious security breach and that's why we thought about maximum security and the only way to open a BulKey Code Wallet™ without knowing the code is to break it...
...or to guess the combination out of 10 000 possible ones.

IV. How to attach the security steel cord?

No matter if your wallet is securely locked with a code, everybody can just grab it from your bag and steal it with all of your belongings inside. That's why we designed this security steel cord, as an innovative and easy way to secure additionally your wallet. It is made from high quality steel, which can't be easily cut.

1. Take the cord and tie it around the object you wish, as shown in the picture. (It could be a bag handle, backpack straps, zips or even your pants' belt loop.)

2. On the other end you will be left with a small steel anchor.

3. Take the wallet and set the current code.
4. Push the button, and keep it pressed.
5. The slit will open at the bottom of the wallet.
6. Insert the anchor all the way down.
7. Release the button and shuffle the code.

Done! Now your wallet is firmly attached to the steel cord. You can still safely open the wallet while it is connected by the cord. Keep in mind that every time you push the button (in combination with the right code) the tongue retracts, and the anchor will be unlocked for short moment.

V. Daily use

Due to its minimalist design and small size, BulKey Code Wallet™ is convenient not only for travel, but also for daily use. When you use it daily in a safe environment, there is no need to enter the code every time. You can just set it once and then freely open and close the case, and use it as a regular stylish wallet.

Let's be honest...

As our clients are really important to us, we at Bulkey want to be completely honest with you. There are no unbreakable things. If the thieves have enough time and the right tools, they can break into everything. However, with our innovations, we have made it difficult enough for them to open or steal your BulKey Code Wallet™. In this way they will choose another, much easier victim, than you.

Now, enjoy the things that matter, as you have one thing less to worry about :)
